Subject- Virtual National conference of ASI

Dear members,

During present pandemic of COVID-19 it is not possible to hold National conference of society in physical form which is scheduled at Dharwad.

It was suggested & discussed with the executive committee members that Society shall have some academic activity to encourage members to present the research papers. Hence a virtual conference is being allowed & will be organized by KGMU on 28th 29th & 30th January 2022. During this virtual conference there will be paper presentation and pre conference CME. All relevant details are available at the website of conference.

At the same time it is to submit that elections for the year 2023 office bearers will be conducted as per schedule during the year 2022. All other activities of the Society will resume in the year 2022, during the physical conference at Dharwad.

Everyone is requested to encourage members to participate in this virtual conference.

Here it is to mention that a successful virtual international workshop of Anatomy was organized during the month of October 2021 by Dr S K Jain Professor & Head Anatomy department, TMMC & RC Moradabad, UP, under the aegis of ASI.

With regards

Dr S L Jethani
